

Roger Wolf

Director of Environmental Programs, Iowa Soybean Association

Wolf holds a B.S. in Geography from the University of Iowa. He has worked as an Environmental Specialist for the State of Iowa, Department of Agriculture and Land Stewardship, and developed his own business as a watershed consultant, helping organize stakeholders and develop and implement area wide plans in Iowa watersheds.

In that capacity, he helped staff the Raccoon River Watershed Project and helped create Agriculture's Clean Water Alliance, an association of agribusinesses in the Raccoon River watershed, for which he continues to serve as Executive Director.

At ISA, he has developed Environmental Programs, unique among commodity organizations, that seek to advance action oriented, performance based conservation and environmental programming. He also works to build successful cooperative partnerships and provides the leadership direction for educational and policy efforts on conservation and the environment.
